Revelries Cast Seeks Players

A special audition for men interested in chorus and cast parts in this spring's Revelries production will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Morris Dailey auditorium, Dave Woods, production manager, has announced.

"A shortage of men in the show has developed because of scholastic requirements and draft calls," Woods said. "The men we want tonight are those who want a good time and are willing to put in some work in return. You don't have to be a Laurence Olivier—just willing to learn," he stressed.

Woods also announced two additions to the "Kiss Me Hello" cast. The part of "Big Harry," a college pledge-master, has been given to Dave Caldwell, and the role of "Mother Gerta," a sorority house-mother went to Peggy Hemmingson.

"Kiss Me Hello," an all-student musical comedy production, opens May 7 in Morris Dailey auditorium for a four-night run.

Group To Hear Ceramics Talk

Ceramics techniques for the blind will be explained by Dr. Herbert Sanders, professor of art, to members of the Northern California affiliate of the American Occupational Therapy association Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in B73.

Dr. Sanders will demonstrate methods of throwing and modeling from the craftsman's approach, according to Mrs. Eleanor Mann, president of the group and occupational therapy instructor.

Mrs. Mann, Miss Mary Booth, O.T. instructor, and the members of the Occupation Therapy club will act as hostesses.

Dr. Sanders, a graduate of Ohio State university, has been a member of the Art department since 1938. During the war he served as assistant field director for the American Red Cross in California.

Junior Class Sets Council Meeting

The Junior class council will hold its first meeting of the spring quarter today in Room 24 at 3 p.m., according to Mary Lou Borgen, class secretary.

"All juniors are eligible for the council and are invited to come to the meeting," said Miss Borgen.

Dinner Tickets Now Available

Tickets are now on sale for the Religious Emphasis week's annual banquet which will be held Friday evening in the social hall of the First Methodist church in San Jose.

Dr. Vere Loper, pastor of the First Congregational church in Berkeley, will speak at the banquet. His topic will be "My Faith and the Way I Live."

Spartans Debate

Spartan students John Mix and Bob Mackie will participate in a debate on the Hartman plan for intercollegiate football today at St. Mary's college, according to Wilbur F. Luick of the college's Speech department.

Chapel Dedicated

THE FIRST INSIDE view of the Memorial Chapel is shown during the dedication services and the dedicatory address by Maj. Howard B. Scholten. The simplicity and beauty of the new Chapel made the impressive ceremonies a fit beginning to the building that will become an important part of campus life.

PRESIDENT T. W. MacQUARRIE is shown above as he formally accepts the Memorial Chapel on behalf of the college. Behind him is the service flag which contains more than 450 stars representing Spartans who served with the armed forces. Seated (l. to r.) are Lud Spolyar, Maj. Howard M. Scholten, Chester Zeff, and the Rev. James A. Martin.

Memorial Chapel Honors 200 Dead

By DIANE PRICE

The long-awaited dedication of the college Memorial Chapel Friday morning was, to many, the culmination of years of hopes and dreams, the realization of the interest and devotion of those who made its creation possible.

"The Chapel is a memorial to immortality," said Maj. Howard B. Scholten, chaplain at Mather field in Sacramento, in his dedicatory address. Two hundred Spartans died to make this vibrant monument possible, and it is to the cause for which they died that we pay tribute, he said.

A service flag covered with blue and gold stars is encased at the front of the Chapel as a reminder of this to all who enter.

The impressive service, held before a limited number of faculty members, students, and interested persons, began with the invocation by Miss JoAnn Keeler, president of AWS, and the presentation of the flag by members of the San Jose chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Scripture Reading

Marvin Scarper, AMS president, gave a scripture reading followed by a prayer by Byron Rose, president of the College Religious council. Charles Hillis, former president of the Alumni association, gave a brief history of the Memorial Chapel and introduced Mr. and Mrs. Wilber E. Bailey, who suggested the construction of the chapel after their son, Kenneth Bailey, who was graduated with the class of 1942, was killed during the war.

Formal Presentation

Formal presentation of the Memorial Chapel to the college was made by E. S. Thompson, business manager, and Emerson Arends, president of the Alumni association. President T. W. MacQuarrie and Lud Spolyar, ASB president, accepted for the college, expressing appreciation to all those whose work made the project possible.

The Rev. James A. Martin, chairman of the service, gave the prayer of dedication, and Chester Zeff, counselor for Hillel, student Jewish organization, pronounced the benediction.

Spiritual Side

The Memorial Chapel is intended to represent the spiritual side of campus life, an important part of any education. It is open to all faiths; it is open to all campus organizations; it is of, by and for alumni, students and future students of the college.

In the simplicity of its character, in the dignity and respect which it commands, the Memorial Chapel stands now as a monument and as a tribute to those who gave their lives in World War II. Becoming a part of campus life, it will always remain a symbol of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Scout Camps Need Summer Workers

Interviews for summer work at Boy and Girl Scout camps will be held tomorrow, according to Mrs. Florence Cardoza of the Placement office.

A waterfront director, a naturalist, a crafts director, and several provisional scoutmasters will be needed at Camp Wolfboro, a Boy Scout camp in Calaveras county, from June 20 to Aug. 14. Salary will be $200 to $300 for the season. Interviews for the applicants, who must be men and 21 years old or older, will be held from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Placement office.

A Big Basin Girl Scout camp, Huckleberry Woods, will need female unit leaders, assistant unit leaders, assistant counselors and nurses for a seven-week period, starting June 25. The age requirement for this work is also 21 years old or older and interviews will be held from 1 to 3 p.m.

Religious Week Activity Begins

Officially opened last night with a panel and forum discussion in the Morris Dailey auditorium, the college's third annual Religious Emphasis week continues its festivities today with an impressive schedule.

The first of the week's three main speeches discussing the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant religions will be given this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the auditorium, with Rabbi Meyer Heller, assistant Rabbi of the Temple Emanu-El in San Francisco, developing the views concerning the Jewish faith.

At 3:30 p.m., the day's program will continue in 210 with a panel discussion on "Religion in Everyday Life." Taking part in the panel will be Dr. Carl Duncan, head of the Natural Science department; Mrs. Eugene C. Andres Jr., Roger Williams, Chester Zeff, and the Rev. James Martin, head of the college's Student Y.

Highlighting tonight's activities will be the student discussions at 19 various fraternity, sorority, and private group houses. Speaking at these meetings will be members of the college faculty, local pastors and professional persons.

Hillel, college Jewish organization, will hold open house at Alexander hall in the YMCA beginning at 8 p.m.

Carrying through the plan of presenting a different type of morning worship each day, Goodwin Petersen, assistant professor of engineering and industrial arts, will officiate at the Quaker service to be given at 7:45 a.m. tomorrow in the Chapel. This morning's service in the Chapel was traditional Jewish.

At 12:30 p.m. tomorrow, a movie "What Our Neighbors Believe," will be presented in Room 39, and at 1:30 p.m. a second movie will be shown entitled, "The Challenge."

The week's third panel discussion will be held at 3:30 p.m. in Room S210 and will develop the subject, "What Kind of Religion Does a College Student Need?" Mac Martinez, Tom Evans, Joyce Malone, Marilyn Pestarino and Doris Lee Raymond will take part.

Tomorrow's program will be concluded at the Social hall of the First Methodist church, with a discussion on the subject, "Art in Religion." The college's a cappella choir and the Antioch Baptist church choir will perform.

Thought for a Week

Perhaps too seldom in this day and age do we hear enough about religion on our college campuses. To some it may seem unexciting and monotonous to read such things continually in our college paper and to hear about them in our classes.

But it has always been hard to deny that religion does play an important part in each of our lives, and its value as a background for a liberal education should not be underestimated. Just one week out of an entire year do we hear much about religion in school. For that one week, at least, we should do some serious thinking on the subject and place a little more emphasis on it in our daily lives.

Perhaps with the new chapel always in view, it will be a little easier for students to give some thought to spiritual things than it has been in the past. In the hustle and bustle of school days, we sometimes tend to forget such an intangible thing as religion. Perhaps if we took just a little time out sometime this week to give it some thought, we might find a little inspiration and understanding that would be worthwhile. D.P.

Students on Death Valley Trip Encounter 'Stormy Weather'

By JOYCE PASSETTI

"The best time we ever had," exclaimed Dr. Gertrude Cavins, registrar of the West Coast Nature School, referring to the recent trip to Death Valley. The 220 students were a marvelous group and good sports, she added.

"They had to be to survive. For six days we had snow, wind, rain, hail, every kind of weather but sunshine, and we ate sand and dirt," she explained.

Along with the variety of weather, the group had extensive car trouble—55 flat tires—reported Dr. Carl D. Duncan, head of the Natural Science department.

For many of the students it was their first experience at camping out. They "roughed it" in rustic cabins, which were quite primitive without windows or doors. Under the supervision of Byron Bollinger, college superintendent of buildings and grounds, the campers were issued food from a central commissary and were divided into cooking groups.

Group 'Accredits' College of Pacific

Three faculty members represented the college last Thursday on a committee which staged a "mock" accreditation of College of Pacific.

Dr. James C. DeVoss, executive dean; Dr. Raymond M. Mosher, dean of education services; and Dr. W. G. Sweeney, chairman of the Education department, were invited by Dr. L. B. Kinney, chairman of the California State Accreditation committee, to serve on the sample committee.

Next year another committee, headed by Dr. Kinney, will accredit this college, according to Dr. Sweeney.

Ex-Spartan Fights In Korean Battles

Pfc. Edward E. Gurley, former SJS student, is presently serving with the 25th Infantry division in Korea, according to a recent army release.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Sinnott of 1899 Keopcrest avenue, San Jose, Gurley entered the army in May, 1951. His unit is now holding down a battle line north-east of the Punchbowl area in Eastern Korea.

Difficult Roles To Be Entered In Production

Ruth Dougherty, freshman drama major, will attempt her most difficult role to date as Leonora Perrycoste in "There's Always Juliet," first production of the spring quarter by the Speech and Drama department, according to Miss Elizabeth Loeffler, assistant professor of speech, who will direct the play.

There are only four characters in the play, and Miss Dougherty and Gerald Charlebois, the main characters, are on stage continuously, Miss Loeffler said. The production is a modern comedy of manners with the emphasis on dialogue and rapid-fire repartee between these two.

Although she is just a freshman, Miss Dougherty already has distinguished herself by her successful performances in "The Curious Savage," "What Every Woman Knows," "Nights of Wrath" and "Othello."

"There's Always Juliet" was written by J. Van Druten, who also penned "Voice of the Turtle." The play will be presented nightly in the Little Theater Apr. 25-30, excluding Apr. 27.

English Conference Stresses Modern Teaching Methods

A special audio-visual aid demonstration was featured at the Language Arts conference of English teachers from San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda and San Francisco counties, held here Saturday.

Before the afternoon assemblage of more than 150 instructors from grammar schools, high schools and colleges of the area, Dr. Richard Lewis, associate professor of education; William Dusel, assistant professor of English; and Mrs. Mae Galarza of the Almaden grammar school faculty, presented a three-part program.

The section under Professor Dusel's direction presented a program of recorded literature. Readings of works by Vachel Lindsay, Stephen Vincent Benet, and Robert Frost were heard. Recordings from "Medea" read by Judith Anderson, and Iago's part from "Othello," dramatized by Jose Ferrer, were also played.

Dr. Lewis' demonstration was designed to show how children's appreciation of movies can be increased by movies. A film entitled "Understanding Movies," was shown.

During the third demonstration, Mrs. Galarza exhibited materials useful in teaching elementary school children how to read.

At the morning program, Dr. Paul Roberts of the English department spoke in a panel discussion on, "Teaching the Language Arts Today." Dr. Roberts' talk was titled, "What About Grammar?"

Dr. Roberts believes that good grammar is not a matter of black and white, and that many English teachers set up false goals for standards. Correct grammar, he feels, is proper for the particular social situation or soundings and is variable.

President T. W. MacQuarrie greeted the assemblage with a welcoming speech.

Four School Records Fall, Spartans Lose Meet, 89-42

By BILL TUNNELL
Though they lost to Stanford 89 to 42, the Spartan track team took solace in the fact that four school records fell in the meet.
Bob McMullen was the ace of the day by his lowering of two school marks. McMullen broke his own record in the mile which was 4:21.5 by going the distance in 4:18.8. He then lowered the 13-year-old record of Joe McNabb's by blazing the eight-lap two mile in 9:37.8. McNabb's old mark was 9:41.7.

Trophies for the outstanding trackman in the novice and senior divisions will be awarded at the intramural track meet scheduled for tomorrow at 3 p.m. at the Spartan oval.

The senior division will be made up of tracksters who have won points for the Spartans or any junior college or university, while the novice division will consist of any male student who wishes to compete.

Five teams will take the field, each captained by a varsity track star of last year, and backed by a fraternity and a sorority who will act as cheering sections. A trophy also will be awarded to the best fraternity-sorority cheering section.
Team captains and their fraternity-sorority backers are: Herman Wyatt, Sigma Pi and Gamma Phi Beta; George Nickel, Theta Chi and Delta Gamma; Paul Jennings, SAE and Alpha Phi; Bob McMullen, Delta Upsilon and Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Paul Dennis, Pi Kappa Alpha and no sorority.

The other school record was set by Walt Burnett when he blazed the quarter in 48.3, nipping Owen Moore at the tape. The 440 mark Burnett bettered was Owen Collins' 48.6 set in 1938. The Spartans show promise of having a terrible duo in Burnett and Moore.

The Gold and White squad grabbed off two more first places in Bill Priddy's 13' 6" pole vault and John Wenzel's 188' 2" heave in the javelin, but lacked the depth to keep up with the powerful Indians.

Other point winners for the Spartans were George Nickel with a toss of 152' in the discus, which was good enough for second behind Bob Mathias, Don Gillespie who placed third in the two mile, and

Linksmen, Marines Meet Here Today

San Jose State college's power-laden golf team opens a 12-match dual meet campaign today against the Camp Pendleton Marines at the San Jose Country club.

The Spartan linksmen were edged out of the Northern California Intercollegiate crown last week by four strokes, losing to the defending champions, the Stanford Indians.

A newcomer to the local squad is Henry Solario, who enrolled at Sparta this quarter. Solario is an outstanding prospect and should aid the Spartan club immensely this spring. The Modesto Junior college transfer almost took medalist honors in last week's Northern California Intercollegiate session, losing in a special playoff to Bob White of California.

Ken Venturi, however, is the Spartans' top golfer. The Raider is considered a prime contender for the United States Walker Cup team and is currently the California State Amateur champion.

Other leading members of the golf team are veterans Bill King and Wally Regan and newcomers Gene Broderick, Gordy Williams and Stan Gum.

Friday's track results: Spartababes 94 1-2, Vallejo JC 24 1-2.

Applications for the forthcoming intramural softball league may now be obtained in the Men's gym.

As in the past, the intramural conference will be composed of two separate divisions, the Independent and the Fraternity. The winner of each division will meet for the college softball championship in a special play-off at the wind-up of the regular season.

All entry blanks for the softball loop are due in the Men's gymnasium on Thursday afternoon, Intramural Sports Director Bill Perry has announced.

Perry has requested that all managers or team representatives appear at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Men's gym for a meeting, preliminary to the opening of the diamond action this quarter.
